DETAILED ACTION

The following is a first action on the merits of application Serial No.10/500,512, filed June 30, 2004.

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

Receipt is acknowledged of the Information Disclosure Statement filed June 30, 2004. The cited documents have been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 4-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. It is unclear from the disclosure how applicant proposes to determine "a predetermined value of power delivered by the transmission to the power take off" or when that value is exceeded. In addition, the disclosure does not set forth how applicant proposes to use the determination that the value of power has exceeded a predetermined value to reduce power shift clutch pressure and/or change transmission ratio, and/or reduce brake pressure.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 4, 5, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 4, line 3, the expression "at least one or more of" is indefinite, i.e., it is not clear whether this means at least one or at least more than one. It appears that this expression should be either "at least one" or "one or more", but not both expressions combined. It is unclear from the claim what is referred to by "an input force of the wheel loader". In addition, the expression "as well as possible" is vague and does not set forth the metes and bounds of the claim. In claim 5, it is unclear whether "a power shift clutch", recited in line 9, is the same as or in addition to "a power shift clutch", recited in line 4. As noted above regarding claim 4, it is unclear in claim 5 what is referred to by "an input force of the wheel loader" and the expression "as well as possible". In claim 7, it is unclear whether "a brake" (line 3) refers to the brake recited in parent claim 5 or to an additional brake.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

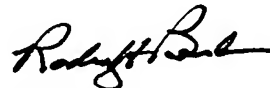

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-7, insofar as definite, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fonkalsrud et al.('581) in view of Lee et al.(DE 197 58 240 A1). The Fonkalsrud et al. device is a control of a power train for a wheel loader having pressure medium actuated clutches and brakes 116, 118, 140 and a transmission 114, wherein the clutches and brakes are modulated for controlling output power to prevent the torque converter from overheating. The Fonkalsrud et al. Device does not appear to teach changing the transmission gear ratio. The Lee et al. device includes a control wherein the transmission is shifted to first gear based on motor loading when it is determined that the loader has stopped driving. It would have been obvious to carry this teaching to the Fonkalsrud et al. device, the motivation being to provide further control of power absorbed by the torque converter.
